MILLS USED AS A BLIND
TO LURE UNSUSPECTING

Broadway Bank and Trust Co. Is Charged With Having Furnished Money

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—Details of an important land fraud
indictment returned by the Federal Grand Jury April 9, and involving prominent men of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Southwestern Oregon was made public tonight by United States District Attorney W. A.
Bristol. The indictment, as usual,
charges violation of Section 5440 of the revised statutes. The property alleged to have been fraudulently secured lies on the banks of Lobster
and Euclid creeks, in southwestern Curry county, Oregon, and consists of 6,000 acres, practically all in one
tract and of fine timber land.

Names of the Accused

The indictment charges conspiracy
to defraud the Government of timber land by securing entrance to file up-
on land with the intention of disposing of it to the alleged conspirators, Richard D. Jones and William H. Smith, now of San Francisco, formerly resident of Portland; Jerome
Huntley, formerly United States Commissioner in Curry county, Oregon; A. S. Johnson, formerly a deputy county clerk of Curry county;
William T. Kerr, of Coquille, Ore.;
John R. Miller of Port Orford, Ore.;
Warren Gillette and R. W. Kenney, respectively president and cashier of
the Broadway Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles; G. L. Stearns,
formerly president, and Jacob C.
Cross, director of the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company of Los Angeles; David M. Goodwin, M. D., and
A. H. Eddley, M. D., of Los Angeles;
Richard Haynes, M. D., of Riley and Lee R. Ayers, stock brokers of Los Angeles; W. D. Gould, attorney of Los Angeles, and F. W. Dennis, broker and real estate dealer of San Francisco.

Mills as a Blind

The indictment asserts that the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company, which is alleged to have been
the active agency through which the
alleged conspiracy was perfected,
was organized at Los Angeles by Messrs. Cross, Goodwin, Stewart,
Miller, Kerr and Jones. The indictment declares that Smith, Jones and Dennis conducted the San Francisco
end of the alleged scheme. As a blind, according to the indictment,
the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company established and operated
sawmills at Eureka, Cal., Port Orford, and Frankfort, Ore. It was their scheme, says the indictment, to send
to Nebraska, Kansas, California and other parts of Oregon and induce men
to come to the places at which their mills were in operation under the pretense that there was an opportunity of employment in the mills.

Penniless Men Used

It is charged that when these men
arrived that they were told that there was no work for them and that when they finally became penniless and reckless of the consequences, that the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company caused them to be approached
and induced to fraudulently file on timber land described by the company.

The Broadway Bank and Trust Company is charged with having advanced money to further the ends
of the alleged scheme and Huntley
is charged with knowing that the entries were made with fraudulent intent at the time. The indictment contains none of the names of the entrymen.

CANADIANS SEIZE ON

International Trouble May Result
From Action of Officials Across the Border Demanding Payment of In-

DETROIT, May 19.—An international dispute of magnitude is imminent between the United States and Canada over the question
of the payment of Canadian income
taxes by the United States government
engineers who are in charge of dredging operations in the Canadian channel of the Detroit river, and who make their homes in Amherstburg at the mouth of the river.

Although the Canadian courts have decided against the Americans, the latter still refuse to pay and yesterday
the Canadian government seized the household goods of Chief Engineer
Y. Dixon and Assistant Engineer Harry Hodgman, E. R. Lewis and E. A.
Pripp. A sale of these goods by public auction has been announced to sat-

POPE'S ILLNESS IS CAUSING SOME CONCERN

Frequency of Attacks of Gout, to
Which His Holiness Is Subject,
Though Not Grave at Present, Is Causing Much Apprehension

ROME, May 19.—When Dr. Lap-
pini visited the Pope this morning
he found his patient in an improved
condition of health, although the pontiff passed a somewhat restless
night, as the result of his attack of gout. Owing to a slight rise in the temperature, Dr. Lappini ordered
the Pope to remain in bed for several days.

Although the condition of the Pope
is not grave, some apprehension is felt at the frequency of the gout
attacks through exposure to cold,
disordered digestion and fatigue. The present attack seems to have had its origin through the Pope walking to St. Peter's last Sunday for the beatification of Julie Billiart. Returning to his apartments from St. Peter's
the Pope was quite warm and in passing through the thick walls of the Vatican court yards where the atmosphere is damp, he refused to put on his cloak. When the first symptoms
of the trouble appeared he refused to rest and take proper care of himself
and insisted on giving long and fatiguing audiences to all the digni-taries of the Dominican order.

The gout which previously had
only attacked his foot, has now reached the Pope's left knee, which is considerably swollen and gives him acute pain. Considerable inflammation is present. The temperature of His Holiness today was 99. Dr. Lap-
pini visited his patient again this evening.

and had been known as the father of
the eight hour movement.

spectators witnessed the game and
quickly grasped its finer points.

zation of an expedition at St. Thomas,
but says he will go back to Santo Domingo as soon as he receives advice that a general uprising against
the Government of President Caceres
is imminent. He predicts a serious
disturbance.

General Morales admits his inabil-

Torrential Rains Strike Panic Into
Hearts of All People Who Flee for Safety—Houses and Livestock Car-
ried Away—Loss of Life Reported

NAPLES, May 19.—Vesuvius region was again inundated to-
day by a torrential rain which
fell so heavily that a mighty river
is now coursing down the side of the
volcano, carrying everything before
it and sweeping trees, lava, houses
and animals out of its path.

The torrent, which is composed in
part of mud, cinders and ashes, is
about twelve feet wide and in some
places as much as eighteen feet deep.
Two deaths have already been recorded, a man and a boy having
been drowned. The boy was eleven
years old and the child of a peasant.
He had been warned to fly from the
danger, but insisted upon rushing in
the direction of the stream in an effort to reach his father, who was in
the torrent's path unconscious of his
danger. The boy succeeded in reaching his father and both ran toward
safety. They were, however, over-
taken by the stream and swept downward. Another peasant jumped into
the water to give help, but was also carried away. A second man rushed to give help and succeeded in pull-
ing the lad's father and the other
from the water, but the man was so
injured that he died soon after. The body of the heroic boy was flung
up on the trunk of a tree a long
distance below the scene of the tragedy.

MAKES LIBERAL GIFT
TO STATE UNIVERSITY

CLARENCE MACKAY
GIVES DONATION
OF $50,000

Special to The Journal.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Dr. J. E.
Stubbs, president of the Ne-
vada State University at Reno,
Nevada, is reported to have received
a donation from Clarence Mackay of
fifty thousand dollars to be used in
making necessary improvements at
the Nevada university.

From an authentic source at the
university it was learned yesterday
that Dr. Stubbs, who has been in New York for some time past seeking aid
for the university from Clarence Mackay, has been successful in his
negotiations and has been tendered
a princely donation by the million-
aire whose money was made in the
silver mines of the Sagebrush state.
The amount of the donation is not
known by the university authorities
and whether any stipulation is made
as to what the money is to be used for
is not known. It is presumed, however, that the gift will be used for the
enlargement and improvement of the
mining department.

In a letter written from New York
Dr. Stubbs says: "I have been successful in my negotiations with Mr.
Mackay and will have something good
to announce on commencement day."

PURCHASE SITE
CHURCH

Fine Cathedral to Be Erected on
the Corner of Second and
Chestnut Streets

SUM OF $10,000 IS
PAID FOR PROPERTY

Deal Was Closed Yesterday by Purchasing Committee and
Is Considered Good

PURCHASE was made yesterday
by the Catholic Church, of three
lots constituting about a quarter of a block on Second and Chest-
nut streets, which property is destin-
ed to be the site of the Cathedral
upon which the hopes of Nevada
Catholics have been set.

The purchase price was $10,000
and the seller was Sol Levy; the deal
was consummated through J. T. Read
& Brother.

This will be good news to Catholics
throughout the entire State, as it
marks the first tangible step in the
direction of the proposed cathedral.
A fine eight room house is included in
the transfer, and this will utilized, as
the parochial home.

Father Tubman was seen yesterday
and confirmed the news, which was
reluctantly given.

"I had hoped," he said, "to make
the announcement tomorrow to my
congregation in the way of a surprise.
Yes, the deal has been consummated.
About two weeks ago I called a
meeting of all the male members of
the parish and together we discussed
locations and price. A committee
was appointed, consisting of Charles Gilling, Ed Robb M. J. Kieley and
myself, and this committee, after
carefully examining all the available
sites, and discussing the prices, finally
decided on the lots on Second and Chestnut street, which were purchased today."

It was the general opinion, expressed yesterday by many that a
finer location could not have been secured, and that the price paid was a
most reasonable one.

The residents of the South Side,
across the bridge, have tried hard to
have their locality selected as the
church site and many reasons were
given for such selection; but it was
deemed wise by the committee and
those with whom the matter advised, to accept of the offer of Levy who
agreed to sell for $10,000. Thus the
location is central, is readily access-
ible, and as Father Tubman says:
"Even a holy church building has
its commercial features and the fact
that all who come and go will pass
through the business center of the
town, is a valuable factor of Reno
life."

All streets will lead to the cathedral and the structure is bound to be an ornament to the city.

An interesting fact connected with
the purchase of the lot grows out
of the fact that the purchase has been made possible by the donation
of $5,000 from Clarence Mackay, who has just given $50,000 to the University of Nevada. Mrs. Mackay has also been a contributor to the fund,
which purchased the lots yesterday,
and so in the ground on which the cathedral will be built, is some
of the money taken many years ago
from the silver-mining Comstock
mines of Virginia City by the founder of the Mackay fortune.

Accident Happens in the Dark and Panic-Stricken Passengers Leap
20 Feet to the Ground

CHICAGO, May 19.—Twelve persons were injured, two of them seriously, in an accident late tonight
on the "coaster," an attraction at the White City, one of Chicago's amusement parks. The beginning of the trouble was the stopping of the first five cars in one of the depressions at the bottom of a steep slope.
Before those in the car could get out
of danger the second car collided with it.

In turn, each of the others, following at regular intervals, struck the cars at the bottom of the slope. There was no light at the point where the accident occurred. The passengers,
panic stricken, jumped from the
structure, which is about twenty feet high at this point. Most of the injured are suffering from broken
limbs.

Measure Dealing With Cotton Leaks

a Vote of 107 to 86

WASHINGTON, May 19.—By a vote of 107 to 86 the House today refused to pass the anti-graft bill, so-called, dealing with cotton leaks and
other matters of a confidential character which, should they become publicly known, might have a tendency
to affect the markets, because the conference had recommended that members of Congress be included within the scope of the bill. The opposition
was led by McCall, of Massachusetts,
assisted by Champacker, (Indiana), Grosvenor, (Ohio) and Gardner, (Massachusetts), while the friends of the measure were represented by Burton, (Texas), and Jenkins (Wisconsin).

Early in the day the Democrats
made their last stand against the bill,
and being completely outvoted,
desisted from further filibustering, the
consideration of the "anti leak" bill
taking up the rest of the day.

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 19.—The gubatois Newport and Nashville have received orders to fill for Santo Domingo.

General Morales, former President
of Santo Domingo, will sail on the next French line steamer leaving here

knowledge of the reported organi-

disturbance.

General Morales admits his inabil-

Torrential Rains Strike Panic Into
Hearts of All People Who Flee for Safety—Houses and Livestock Car-
ried Away—Loss of Life Reported

NAPLES, May 19.—Vesuvius re-
gion was again inundated to-
day by a torrential rain which
fell so heavily that a mighty river
is now coursing down the side of the
volcano, carrying everything before
it and sweeping trees, lava, houses
and animals out of its path.

The torrent, which is composed in
part of mud, cinders and ashes, is
about twelve feet wide and in some
places as much as eighteen feet deep.
Two deaths have already been recorded, a man and a boy having
been drowned. The boy was eleven
years old and the child of a peasant.
He had been warned to fly from the
danger, but insisted upon rushing in
the direction of the stream in an ef-
fort to reach his father, who was in
the torrent's path unconscious of his
danger. The boy succeeded in reach-
ing his father and both ran toward
safety. They were, however, over-
taken by the stream and swept down-
ward. Another peasant jumped into
the water to give help, but was al-
so carried away. A second man rush-
ed to give help and succeeded in pull-
ing the lad's father and the other
from the water, but the man was so
injured that he died soon after. The
body of the heroic boy was flung
up on the trunk of a tree a long
distance below the scene of the
tragedy.

MAKES LIBERAL GIFT
TO STATE UNIVERSITY

CLARENCE MACKAY
GIVES DONATION
OF $50,000

Special to The Journal.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Dr. J. E.
Stubbs, president of the Ne-
vada State University at Reno,
Nevada, is reported to have received
a donation from Clarence Mackay of
fifty thousand dollars to be used in
making necessary improvements at
the Nevada university.

From an authentic source at the
university it was learned yesterday
that Dr. Stubbs, who has been in New York for some time past seeking aid
for the university from Clarence
Mackay, has been successful in his
negotiations and has been tendered
a princely donation by the million-
aire whose money was made in the
silver mines of the Sagebrush state.
The amount of the donation is not
known by the university authorities
and whether any stipulation is made
as to what the money is to be used for
is not known. It is presumed, how-
enlargement and improvement of the
mining department.

In a letter written from New York
Dr. Stubbs says: "I have been successful in my negotiations with Mr.
Mackay and will have something good
to announce on commencement day."

CHURCH

Fine Cathedral to Be Erected on
the Corner of Second and
Chestnut Streets

SUM OF $10,000 IS

Deal Was Closed Yesterday by Purchasing Committee and
Is Considered Good

PURCHASE was made yesterday
by the Catholic Church, of three
lots constituting about a quar-
ter of a block on Second and Chest-
nut streets, which property is destin-
ed to be the site of the Cathedral
upon which the hopes of Nevada
Catholics have been set.

The purchase price was $10,000
and the seller was Sol Levy; the deal
was consummated through J. T. Read
& Brother.

This will be good news to Catholics
throughout the entire State, as it
marks the first tangible step in the
direction of the proposed cathedral.
A fine eight room house is included in
the transfer, and this will utilized, as
the parochial home.

Father Tubman was seen yesterday
and confirmed the news, which was
reluctantly given.

"I had hoped," he said, "to make
the announcement tomorrow to my
congregation in the way of a surprise.
Yes, the deal has been consummated.
About two weeks ago I called a
meeting of all the male members of
the parish and together we discussed
locations and price. A committee
was appointed, consisting of Charles Gilling, Ed Robb M. J. Kieley and
myself, and this committee, after
carefully examining all the available
sites, and discussing the prices, finally
decided on the lots on Second and
Chestnut street, which were purchas-
ed today."

It was the general opinion, expressed yesterday by many that a
finer location could not have been se-
cured, and that the price paid was a
most reasonable one.

The residents of the South Side,
across the bridge, have tried hard to
have their locality selected as the
church site and many reasons were
given for such selection; but it was
deemed wise by the committee and
those with whom the matter advised, to accept of the offer of Levy who
agreed to sell for $10,000. Thus the
location is central, is readily access-
ible, and as Father Tubman says:
"Even a holy church building has
its commercial features and the fact
that all who come and go will pass
through the business center of the
town, is a valuable factor of Reno
life."

FIVE COUNTIES ARE DEVASTATED BY THE FLAMES

Hundreds Are Homeless and Millions of Dollars Worth of Property Is Destroyed by the Fire Which Swept Over Michigan—List of Dead

ESCANABA, Mich., May 19.—Four known dead, a score or more persons missing, hundreds of families homeless, several millions of dollars of property burned, four towns wiped out entirely and a dozen more partially: five counties devastated and one hundred square miles throughout the territory fire swept. This is the dreadful picture that the northern Michigan peninsula presents today after the worst forest fire since the Peshtigo disaster in 1871.

General Superintendent W. E. Wells, of the Escanaba and Lake Superior Railroad, along whose right-of-way the greatest loss occurred, returned tonight from a trip of inspection over the fire-stricken area and says that the flames have gone down and for the time being the danger is over, unless a new gale arises to again fan the embers into flames. The following summary briefly tells the story:

The dead: PETER LA FOND, a cook, smothered in a lumber camp near Katos, body found tonight.

THREE UNKNOWN children dead at Quinnesec, Mich., separated from their parents while the village was burning and perished.

Scores of homesteaders and woodmen are missing and many have probably perished in the flames.

Territory devastated, five counties, Marquette, Menominee, Delta, Alger and Dickinson. The territory fire-swept is 100 miles square.

Towns Wiped Out

Talbot, Mich., 100 population, only a few houses left standing.

Quinnesec, Mich., 400 population, only one house remains.

Saunders, 150 population, all wiped out.

Niagara, Wis., 300 population, all wiped out.

Town partially destroyed: Nottawa, Cornhill, Antoine, Spring Valley, Kingsley, Woodlawn, Foster City, Sala and Metropolitan.

Misery and Suffering

Details of the fire are gradually coming out of the burned territory. All day long refugees and trawlers have been coming in telling tales of misery as well as heroism and brave deeds that were enacted while the fire was at its height.

The reports all show that the fire was fully as serious as first reported. The burned-out district extends from a point ten miles out of Escanaba, to Talbot on the south, to Channing and Quinnesec on the west, to Sands on the north and back to Escanaba. The flames were the fiercest along the Escanaba and Lake Superior line. Cause of the Fire It is in this district that a thousand or more of the small fires have been smoldering for weeks. Nothing was thought of these fires, because they were not dangerous, but it only needed a wind to fan them into a sheet of flame. This wind came on Friday afternoon.

Toward noon the wind began to blow west and at the rate of thirty miles an hour. By 2 o'clock the velocity was forty miles, and by 4 o'clock the small fires seemed to have united into one large one that extended over a fifty-mile stretch and swept along with a fury that no human hand could stay. The flames seemed to center from a place called Northland and from there swept down toward Escanaba. Throughout the territory hundreds of woodsmen were put to work to stay the fire, but it could not be fought.

Race for Life It marched on, and it was only by diverting its path that some of the towns were saved. First to be driven were the woodsmen in camp and the homesteaders. Hundreds of small and prosperous farmers live in the territory, and the occupants of these farms hurried into the nearest towns for shelter. Cattle and stock and houses and barns and their contents were left to the flames. Wagons were hurriedly loaded with personal effects and the race against the flames began.

In some instances, whole families came in. Many, however, reported that some of the members had been separated and left behind. Some of the towns were hemmed in on all sides. Talbot and Quinnesec are the most notable examples. At both a hard fight was put up, but in the end the places had to be abandoned.

Struggle of the Farmers Water was scarce and even when it was plentiful it was of no avail in combating the flames. Hundreds of woodsmen fought in spots throughout the district. Step by step they would back up, trying at each stand to back-fire the flames. Clearings were burned over with fires that could not be controlled. Then when the flames reached there they found nothing to burn. In this manner many of the towns in the path of the conflagration were saved.

White scenes of horror and despair were being enacted in the fire-stricken territory there was also a panic and neighboring cities, miles from the fire line. Most of the refugees were taken back today when it was supposed that the fire had died down, but some of them found nothing when they reached the spot where their homes had stood.

Flames Dying Down Gradually the wind died down, and this morning it shifted and the flames began to lose their fury, but the fires are not out. They still smolder, and although they are not spreading it will only need a fresh wind to start them again in all their fury. Talbot fought hard to ward off the flames, but failed. A score of houses and an entire logging train were burned. Daggett had sent a fire engine to Talbot, but even this was burned. Daggett managed to save itself because of the shifting of the wind. Quinnesec is still isolated from this end and cannot be reached. Trawlmen say the entire town is gone.

LAW AND MOTION DAY IN DISTRICT COURT

But few cases were considered in the district court day, the day's work being considered exceedingly light considering the fact that it was law and motion day. The proceedings were as follows:

In the estate of Harry Ruhe the will was admitted to probate and a son, H. F. Ruhe of Sacramento, was issued letters of administration.

In the matter of the estate of Owen McElroy, John Hayes, Frank Golden and H. M. Senseney were appointed appraisers.

Letters of guardianship were issued to Mrs. Mary De Remer in the case of her son, Herbert G. De Remer.

M. T. Willey vs. Catherine Donahy, demurrer overruled.

Bedolg vs. Stewart, dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

Cottriss vs. Brookins, demurrer overruled.

TALENTED MUSICIANS LEAVE FOR TONOPAH

The "Rag Time Duo," composed of Gettys Hayes and Ben Smith who have been pleasing the general public with their music at the Oberon for some time, are leaving today for Tonopah.

Their engagement with the management of the Oberon has come to a close and they go to the southern mining town to accept a similar position.

No more have the patrons of the Oberon enjoyed the music of the talented musicians, but Reno society has been frequently entertained by the performances of the duo at various functions and Hayes and Smith have strongly entrenched themselves in the affections of Reno folk.

Their return to this city will be welcomed at any time.

FINE PICTURES An audience somewhat larger than that which greeted the pictures and the speaker on Friday night, attended the lecture by Prof. William Mutton last night at McKissick's Opera House. The lecture no less than the pictures about the San Francisco earthquake and there were most interesting. The hall was generously donated by Manager Piper.

ALUMINUM LIMB IS FOUND BY PROSPECTOR

An uncanny relic was added to Sheriff Ferrel's specimen cabinet yesterday. It is an aluminum limb, worn at one time by a human being, and was picked up by an old prospector on the north side of Peavine mountain. It may be the mute evidence of a brutal murder, a suicide or a lingering death by starvation, which the world will probably never know.

Attached to the aluminum shell is a rubber foot, from which the small toe has been removed, presumably with a knife. On the sole of the foot is cut the letter "S." The aluminum shell contains the number 23636. There is no clue as to who formerly wore the limb or how he lost it.

FLORISTS ENTERTAIN MANY LADY GUESTS

A house full of interested lady visitors, a very bower of flowers and beautiful music were some of the features that characterized the reception tendered last night by the new firm of florists, Navlet Bros. & Renault, to the Reno public.

A bouquet was presented to each lady and escort, and while Marinier's orchestra dispensed sweet strings, the guests of the enterprising management examined the large stock of blossoms, and cut and growing plants.

REESE GOES TO ELY TO MANAGE BIG CAFE

Ray W. Reese, one of Reno's popular young men, leaves this city next Tuesday for Ely where he is offered the management of a large saloon and cafe. Mr. Reese leaves many friends behind, not the least of them being Colonel Hayes, for whom he has worked at the Crystal saloon for over three years.

Colonel Hayes, while he regrets to lose his employee, is happy that he is able to advance himself, and gives Mr. Reese the highest recommendations for integrity, sobriety and reliability.

Other Sections of Address in Reply to Czar's Speech From the Throne Will be Considered Merely as Declarations of Opinion by Government

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—The week closes with suspense over what the next few days will bring forth, but it already is certain that Emperor Nicholas and the government do not regard the address of the lower House in reply to the speech from the throne as an ultimatum beyond the demand for amnesty, which the Emperor will seek to satisfy. Partial pardon and political offenders will be granted and the other demands of the address will be considered declarations of opinion upon which the Emperor is not called to pass until they find expression by legislative enactment.

Politics Not Discussed The trip of President Mourmoutseff, of the lower house, to Peterhof today, as had been anticipated, was productive of no changes in the situation. Though the leader of the house received the utmost consideration and was singled out by the Emperor for special attentions, the subject of the address was, by tacit understanding, avoided. Members of the cabinet who attended the gala luncheon, though greeting M. Mourmoutseff with the fullest cordiality, also refrained from referring to politics.

Guest of Honor As far as the rules of precedence permitted, M. Mourmoutseff was the guest of honor. On the arrival of the special train with the members of the cabinet M. Mourmoutseff was seated in the front carriage, he was ushered to the chapel, and at the luncheon was seated between Minister of War Rudiger and Minister of Finance Kokovoff and near the Emperor, who addressed much of his conversation to him.

The date of President Mourmoutseff's audience with the Emperor to present the address had not been determined. In case he is not summoned to Peterhof Monday, Parliament will meet that day, but though the Radicals are rampant in spirit their leaders are determined to hold the house in leash and not permit outbreaks until Premier Goremykin has delivered a political statement of the government's policy, which was under consideration during a ten-hour conference between the Emperor and the Premier on Friday.

Will Avoid Conflict The government does not intend to yield to the demands of Parliament, but the desire to avoid a conflict is being increasingly evident. It seems to be the policy of the government, while conceding the minimum demands, to compel Parliament to assume responsibility for a fresh legislative initiative.

The moderation of the constitutional Democratic leaders has already brought them under the ban of the extremists. Several Social Democratic and social revolutionary organizations have solemnly arraigned the party for betraying the cause of freedom by not insisting on direct secret and equal suffrage in the address in reply to the speech from the throne. The Radicals of the house are expected to break away and form separate party groups.

The chiefs of the majority however, will not shed tears at their departure.

CHARGE

Case Against Milwaukee Refrigerator Company and Various Railroads Is Presented to Court and Evidence Taken Under Advisement by Judges

CHICAGO, May 19.—Arguments in the proceedings brought by the United States government against the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit Company and a number of railroad companies under the Elkins anti-rebate law were taken up today before Judges Grosscup, Kohlsaat, Seaman and Baker, sitting in the United States Circuit Court. The proceedings were originally brought in Milwaukee, but were transferred to Chicago under the guidance of Attorney Charles Quarrels, special counsel for the United States.

The defendants to the suit other than the refrigerator company are the Pere Marquette Railroad Company, Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company, Erie Railroad Company, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company, St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad Company, Wisconsin Central Railroad Company, Chicago and Alton Railroad Company and the Pabst Brewing Company.

Payment of Commissions Attorneys representing the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company asked that in their decision the judges embody no provision whereby railroad companies will be prohibited from paying commissions to persons who in good faith secured business for the railroads.

Attorney Quarrels in his argument designated the refrigerator company as a "phantom company." He told the court of a contract between the "phantom" corporation and the Pabst Brewing Company by which the refrigerator concern was given the exclusive right to control and route all shipments of the brewery for no consideration. From March, 1904, the court was told, the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit Company "exact" from railroads in addition to full compensation for use of the cars, $56,000 in "so-called" commissions.

Controlled All Shipments This meant, Attorney Quarrels contended, that the product of the defendant brewery was transported by the railroads at the rate of every eighth car free. To the defense advantage by the railroads that the $56,000 was paid by them as commissions the government's lawyer insisted that the companies already controlled all the shipments of the Pabst Brewing Company.

"The question is," said Attorney Quarrels, "is the payment of these so-called commissions an evasion of the intent of the anti-rebate law?" The case was taken under advisement by the judges.

At North, the proprietor of the Hotel Golden, returned last night from Fairview and announced that he intended at once to commence the construction of a modern 75 room hotel in the big Churchill mining camp.

This enterprise will be operated in conjunction with the Hotel Golden of this city. Mr. North's entrance into the business of hotel operations was but a short time ago, and the fact that he is now branching out with his second venture is evidence of the success that he has met thus far.

It is the intention to make the new hotel the finest in Churchill county. It will be modern in every respect and will be equipped with the completeness that only an experienced hotel man can devise.

A host of friends will wish Mr. North continued success in his latest venture. The hotel in Reno will not suffer by a divided interest as Mr. North will place in charge of the Fairview hotel a man competent to handle that business.

POLICE HELP REDUCE RENO'S POPULATION

A large number of vagrants were given "floaters" yesterday afternoon by the police and advised that their absence was a thing devoutly desired. Over fifteen individuals were thus subtracted from the total of Reno's population.

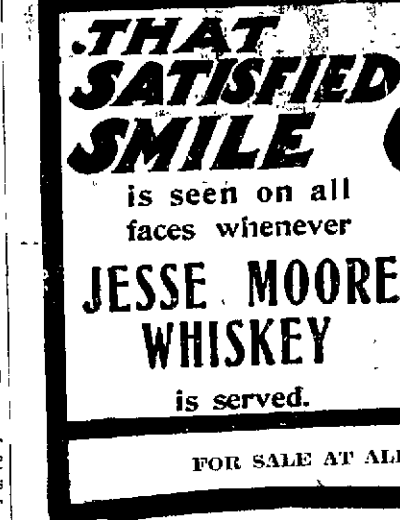

In their zeal to get rid of undesirable a few mistakes were made, but these were rectified at police headquarters when the suspects were able to give a good account of themselves.

The raid was caused by the fact that pickpockets are again abroad, and Captain Alter is of the opinion that the workers are members of the same gang that paid Reno a visit more profitable to the thieves than to Reno residents. A watch was lifted yesterday in a local resort on Commercial Row, and the victim, of course was unaware of the theft until sometime after the event.

The three alleged adventurers who were arrested Friday afternoon on suspicion of being "pushers" of bad checks, are still being retained in custody by the police. Knowles, who drew two checks on the Bank of California, admitted yesterday to Chief Leeper that he did not have that much money in the bank, but said he relied on his English brother, to redeem the checks with hard English money.

Nichols and Kerr admit playing the "games heavily," but declare that Knowles, the Englishman, staked them to the game and put up all the money. Eric Knowles is believed to be a "remittance" man.

WILL PROTECT THE INTERESTS OF THE LOCAL SPORTSMEN

As a result of the intense dissatisfaction in this county among all classes of sportsmen, an organization is being formed, under the encouragement of the Reno Gun Club, which organization will be called the Washoe County Fish and Game Protective Association.

"It is believed," said Walter Morton yesterday, who is one of the most enthusiastic and influential sportsmen, "that an association of at least five hundred members can easily be formed in this county, each member of which will be willing to donate the sum of $1 monthly for the good of the hunters' and fishermen's interests in this county."

"One of the plans is to construct a hatchery of our own, and not depend on the uncertainties of politics any more."

A delegation of fishermen recently had a conference with the members of the Reno Gun Club and advised that steps, such as are now being taken, be made, to the end that Washoe County like many sections of the sister state, have a more effective enforcement of the fish and game laws, and conserve the existence of the fish in the streams and the game in wood and field.

The fact that Washoe county raises nine-tenths of all the fish of the state and that all the ova for the proposed hatchery at Carson City must be taken from the Truckee, are some of the conditions that lead local fishermen to believe that Washoe county should at least have a representation on the board of fish commissioners. But this county was overlooked in this matter and so the association is being talked of and in the opinion of the officers of the Reno Gun Club will soon be an accomplished fact.

LETTERS ABOUT THE WARRANTS FOR BRIDGE

The statements made in yesterday's Journal concerning the possibility that the County Commissioners, acting as the Bridge Commission, would not let the bids for the replacing of the old bridge until after the State Legislature meets again has caused considerable comment. The statements were made by Ed. W. Appoby and Dan L. Hammond, representing two of the bridge construction companies who made bids on the job.

In view of the discussion, Recorder Stoddard has submitted the correspondence which transpired between himself and District Attorney Craig showing the points which Recorder Stoddard wanted cleared up, and the legal opinion of the District Attorney. Here are the letters:

W. B. Craig, Esq., District Attorney, Washoe County, Nev.:

Dear Sir—In view of the conflicting verbal and written opinions that have been given upon certain points herein specified, relating to "An act to authorize the County Commissioners of Washoe County, Nev., to issue bonds to provide for the removal and reconstruction of what is known as the Iron Bridge in the City of Reno, etc.," approved March 15, 1935, Statutes of 1935, page 155.

Section 7 creates a Board of Directors "whose duty it shall be within thirty days after the passage of this act to meet and determine at which point on the Truckee River the Iron bridge now spanning the said river shall be placed and rebuilt," etc.

Section 8 provides for a construction board, whose duty it shall be to forthwith proceed to remove and reconstruct what is known as the Iron Bridge in the City of Reno, at some point to be selected as in section 7, this act provided," etc.

Did the board comply with the law when it failed to "determine at which point the Iron bridge should be placed within thirty days after the passage of the act? As they did not select the site until May 17, 1935, sixty-two days having elapsed, did the "construction board" forthwith proceed to reconstruct what is known as the Iron bridge, a period of ten months having elapsed since the bridge was removed. Can the Auditor legally draw his warrant upon the Washoe County Bridge Fund, for the rebuilding of the Iron bridge at this time?

An early reply will greatly oblige. Yours very truly, C. H. STODDARD, County Auditor, Reno, Nev., May 17, 1936.

C. H. Stoddard, County Auditor, Washoe County, Reno, Nev.:

Dear Sir—In compliance with your request for an opinion as to the legality of the action of the "Board of Directors" and the "Construction Board" created under the act to authorize the County Commissioners of Washoe County, Nevada, to issue bonds to provide for the removal and reconstruction of what is known as "The Iron Bridge" in the City of Reno, etc., approved March 15, 1935, I have to submit the following:

First—The Board of Directors, whose duty it was to meet and determine within thirty days after the passage of the act, at which point on the Truckee River the Iron bridge should be placed and rebuilt, met within the thirty days prescribed by law, and while they did not determine what should be done with the Iron bridge at their first meeting, but by an adjourned sitting, concluded their labors. I am of the opinion that this would constitute action within thirty days within the meaning of the statute.

Second—As to whether the "Construction Board" has acted under the law which provides that they must forthwith proceed to reconstruct what is known as the Iron bridge. I am of the opinion notwithstanding the fact that the period of six months has elapsed since the bridge was removed, that the board forthwith proceeded to reconstruct what is known as the Iron bridge, as the law requires. I take it that "forthwith" means with all convenient speed. And in view of the many and onerous duties imposed upon the "Construction Board," including the building of the new bridge, I think that they have acted in accordance with the law.

I am therefore of the opinion that the Auditor can legally draw his warrant upon the Washoe County Bridge Fund for the rebuilding of the Iron Bridge at this time.

Respectfully submitted, W. B. CRAIG, District Attorney of Washoe County, Nevada.

TO TELL ALL ABOUT BEAUTIFUL SANTA CRUZ

Few cities have experienced the wonderful rejuvenation that Santa Cruz has seen in the last few years. The little city by the sea was always remarkable for its climate and its scenic advantages. Here river and forest and sea combine to make a site for a summer resort that cannot be excelled. Fishing and salt water fishing and swimming, and hunting in the redwood clad mountains that fringe the town are some of the natural attractions that were for years allowed to remain unheralded and unannounced while cities north and south enjoyed the patronage of visitors that passed by Santa Cruz.

Fred Swanton, chairman of the publicity committee which is soon to visit Reno, was one of the men who realized the natural advantages of his native city and his enthusiasm finally roused the older heads from slumber and they went after their share of the business. As a result there is perhaps no resort in the west that has the yearly attendance that Santa Cruz now enjoys.

CALIFORNIA PLANTS

Mr. Chas. C. Navlet, the president of our company, recently visited Reno and was surprised to find so many beautiful homes without summer blooming plants—the only flowers he saw being lilacs. Any of the following plants will flourish as well in Nevada as in California, and as they are already half matured they will produce a mass of bloom this summer.

12 Chrysanthemum Plants for 35c---Postpaid

These Chrysanthemums are all magnificent exhibition varieties, and will produce long stemmed flowers of matchless form and entrancing beauty that measures from 8 to 12 inches in diameter.

12 Carnation Plants for 35c---Postpaid

The choicest varieties—will produce flowers of immense size, exquisite form, surpassing beauty and delightful fragrance.

12 Giant Flowering Aster Plants for 25c---Postpaid

Wonderfully prolific bloomers—the massive flowers rivaling those of the Chrysanthemum in beauty and diversity of form and color. All true giant flowering varieties of the most highly developed new types.

12 Mammoth Flowering Sweet William Plants for 25c---Postpaid

Very popular for clumps and borders. The flowers are exceedingly beautiful, delightfully fragrant and of many brilliant colors.

12 Mammoth Flowering Verbena Plants for 15c---Postpaid

The finest varieties in existence. They will commence to bloom and spread the day set out, and will soon cover the ground with a carpet of beautiful flowers.

12 Single Flowering Petunia Plants for 25c---Postpaid

These Petunias are matchless for beauty and luxuriance. Most of the flowers are completely ruffled or fringed, and as large as saucers. They come in a tremendous variety of colors, markings, veining, blotchings and stripings, and in the most beautiful and grotesque combinations. Some of the colors are rich and gorgeous—others are lovely and delicate.

12 Gaillardia Grandiflora Plants for 50c---Postpaid

STOCKS, MINES and MARKETS

WEEKLY LETTER ON MINING STOCKS

San Francisco Exchange Has Leased on Rush Street and Will Be Occupying Premises Soon. Unsettled Market Conditions Show

The San Francisco Stock Exchange has leased for two years a piece of land on Rush street. They are now erecting a building thereon, in which they will probably be operating in a few days. Until this exchange opens, however, we will do an active business with the Goldfield and Oakland Stock Exchanges. During the past month, New York, Philadelphia, Salt Lake, Goldfield and Denver have done more or less trading, all at widely different prices. These cities have become active markets and the result will be a greater demand for stocks. We have no doubt, however, but that San Francisco, after the exchange opens, will, as in the past, be the clearing house for Nevada stocks, and that the sales on that exchange will be the standard of value for all markets.

Four weeks ago, immediately after the San Francisco disaster, we advised investors to keep out of the stock market. We now believe the good stocks are selling at bottom figures, and recommend their purchase at market price.

The mines of Tonopah, Goldfield, Bullfrog, Manhattan and Fairview have never looked as good as they do now, and we think shares purchased at this time will prove to be profitable investments. We particularly recommend the purchase now of Tonopah West End, Manhattan Belmont and Midway; Goldfield Great Bend, Lone Star and Silver Pick; Bullfrog Gold Bar, Bullfrog Rush, Bullfrog Mining, Bullfrog Black Spar and Sunset; Manhattan Consolidated, Dexter and Little Grey; Fairview, Nevada Hill and Dromedary Hump are sure of being great mines. We have in every letter issued advised the purchase of Bullfrog Gold Bar, and still consider it one of the great mines of the world and a profitable buy at this time. We advise that the Virginia City stocks be not overlooked.

Yellow Horse stock that we recommended in our last letter is all sold. Mines are looking "A 1." Every holder will make money.

The following are a few meritable mines the treasury stock of which we have for sale: Bullfrog Rush, Bullfrog Black Spar, Bullfrog Monitor, Fairview Dromedary Hump, Manhattan Way Up, Manhattan Reliance.

We handle only such unlisted stocks as we are safe in recommending to our clients. Who depend on us for information, and we feel that the above mentioned stocks will make money for those who invest in them. Further information relative to these properties will be furnished on application.

To show how unsettled values are in mining stocks, owing to the fact that San Francisco is out of business, which always has and will be again the maker of values, we herewith give you the sales on the Oakland Stock Exchange for May 19th.

The following stocks were sold on the Oakland market at the prices quoted below:

	Oakland.	Goldfield.

WONDERFUL IS THE NEW STRIKE AT EAST GATE

John C. Spinney, of the Spinney Hawks Company of Tonopah, Returns From the Camp and Speaks Highly of Its Future Greatness

John C. Spinney, of the Spinney Hawks Company of Tonopah, arrived in Reno yesterday direct from the new mining camp of East Gate and speaks in very high terms of the scene of the latest strike. Spinney will leave Reno this morning by team for East Gate, Austin, Manhattan and Tonopah. He will be accompanied by his wife. In speaking of East Gate, Mr. Spinney said yesterday:

East Gate mining district is twenty-two miles east of Fairview, the original strike was made three miles south of the East Gate ranch house, where the new town of East Gate City will be located. Main street has been laid out, the lots being all sold the first day the sales were open. The remainder of the streets are being surveyed and lots are marked and sold as soon as the bays are set. Henry Circle will open the first hotel in the town on Monday, May 21. Many Brothers will open a stable and feed yard and all other lines of business are being represented.

Ten leases have been let, and seven of them will commence work with shipping ore from the surface. Values on several of the principal claims range from $100 to over $1400 in gold. A strike was made on the 15th instant on the Grayback claim, two and one-half miles south of the Owl, making the proven district now about three miles in length to one in width. Good pinnings have been secured to date on sixteen claims. There are about 200 persons now in the district, with an average arrival of about twenty per day.

Prospectors recognize the formation as of the right kind and the camp bids fair to rival Fairview or Manhattan. Trading in claims is brisk at fair prices. $12,500 cash was paid for a one-eighth interest in the Golden Gate this week.

The camp will have an abundance of water for a town of 20,000 inhabitants. The old East Gate ranch house is the best place in Churchill county at the present time, as that is headquarters while the new town is being built up. Wallace Goodall, the efficient manager for George Williams, proprietor of the ranch, has been called upon to take care of a few guests, with fifteen beds and a few shakedown. His easy manner in saying to each newcomer, "We will find a place for you," has never been equaled. He is a great man in the right place. William Dalton, the former proprietor of East Gate is on the ground lending his assistance to Mr. Goodall, and is also deserving of great praise for courtesies to the newcomers.

Hundreds of good prospectors are rushing into Churchill county. They all declare that the right formation is there and strikes may be expected in regular order.

STOCKS STAGNANT PRICES DROP LOWER

Volume of Trading for Week is Less Than That of Last and Tendency Is for a Further Reduction in Values

NEW YORK, May 19.—There was no market for stocks worthy of the name today and the sluggish drift of prices was of no consequence. The stagnation of the trading, however, is significant of the growing conviction of the unpropitious outlook for any large speculative attempts in the present stock market.

Prices showing a dropping tendency from the animation of the market, but hardened to some extent before the closing and left final prices insignificantly changed from last night. The most important change in the bank statement was in the last cash item. The $15,000,000 loan expansion is clearly due to other causes than stock market borrowing and the Pennsylvania note issue is given credit for the increase. Although over $100,000 in gold has been received by the incoming steamers this week, the United States treasury had claims upon the banks for an equivalent amount on account of government funds advanced to the banks at the time they engaged under pledge of return government deposits when the gold arrived. The cash item of the banks shows only a nominal change on the week. Total sales of bonds per value $9,775,000.

Operations in stocks this week have lapsed into professional hands to a large extent. The volume of transactions has shrunk and the range fluctuations has narrowed, reflecting a decline in speculative interest and a mood of hesitation and uncertainty over the outlook for values. This is in accordance with precedent after such a market as that following the San Francisco earthquake and fire and represents a stage in the normal readjustment of market conditions to the problem presented by the losses incurred in that calamity.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The statement of the clearing house banks for this week shows that the banks hold $10,129,275 over the legal reserve requirements. This is a decrease of $2,765,325 under last week.

The statement follows: Loans, $1,040,722,100; increase, $15,011,500. Deposits, $1,026,832,900; increase, $12,276,500. Circulation, $50,011,800; decrease, $360,900. Legal tenders, $81,395,900; increase, $1,005,600. Specie, $155,441,600; decrease, $1,001,800. Reserve, $256,837,500; increase, $303,300. Reserves required, $256,708,225; increase, $3,069,125. Surplus, $10,129,275; decrease, $2,765,325. Ex-U. S. deposits, $16,961,625; decrease, $15,186,000.

MARKET FOR WHEAT CLOSES FIRM IN TONE

Corn Opened Irregular but Closing Prices Were Steady. Oats Were Strong All Day and Provisions Somewhat Easier With Prices Lower

CHICAGO, May 19.—The wheat market was slightly easier at the opening because of softening by reports of slight falling in Kansas and Missouri. These reports, however, were readily discounted and the market soon became firm, remaining so until the close.

July opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 82 1/2 to 82 3/4; sold at 82 1/2 @ 1/4 c, and advanced to 83 3/4. Final quotations were at 83c.

Sentiment in the corn pit was bearish but an official forecast of frost to night in Illinois had an unsteady effect on prices. The market closed steady. July opened a shade to 1/4 c lower at 47 1/4 to 47 3/4 @ 1/4 c, sold between 47 1/4 c and 47 3/4 c and closed at 47 1/4 c, a loss of 1/4 c.

Dry weather together with the predictions of frost caused a strong market all day in the oats pit. July opened a shade lower at 32 1/2 c and advanced to 33c, where it closed, a gain of 1/4 @ 1/4 c.

An easier tone prevailed in the provisions market and trading was very quiet. It traders sold moderately because of a 5 cent decline in the price of live hogs. A local packer was a fair purchaser of pork ribs and this steadied the market somewhat for other products. At the close July pork was at 56 1/2 @ 1/2 c at 110.77 1/2. Lard was down 10c at $8.37 1/2. Ribs were a shade lower at $8.37 1/2 @ 9.00.

Wrestlers Agree for Local Match

On Thursday night at the Grand theater one of the most important sporting events that has been pulled off in Reno for a long time will transpire. U. Kawa, the amateur champion wrestler of Japan, will meet George Braun, lightweight champion, for a purse and the lightweight championship.

The men will wrestle under catch-as-catch-can rules. This is a concession made by J. Tochio, manager of the Japanese wrestler but Miller for Braun agrees that there will be no holds barred, straight rules prevailing. This will about even matters up.

The methods of Japanese in wrestling are radically different from those governing American or European bouts; but the fact that all holds go will tend to put the men on an even basis on the mat.

Braun's recent and easy victory over Harry Gelder showed what the lightweight boy can do, and he will have many admirers who will back him. Kawa's prowess was shown at the Wheelmen's benefit a week ago at the Opera House, and while he then wrestled according to the Japanese rules it was easy to see that he is a born wrestler and ought to be able to adapt himself to any variety of the game.

It should be a great go next Thursday night at the Grand theater.

Following are the articles of agreement:

Articles of agreement between U. Kawa, amateur champion wrestler of Japan, and George Braun, American lightweight champion, entered into and subscribed to this 19th day of May, 1936, to govern a wrestling bout to take place in Reno, Nevada, Thursday, May 24.

Article 1.—We agree to meet at the Grand Theater at catch weights on the night of May 24.

Article 2.—It is agreed that catch-as-catch-can straight rules shall govern the match. No holds barred.

Article 3.—The two best of three falls shall determine the winner. Ten minutes between bouts.

Article 4.—It is agreed that Al Page shall be referee, and his decision final. Winner to take all.

FRANK MULLER, For George Braun.

J. TOCHIO, For U. Kawa.

Idaho Is to Have Baseball League

BOISE, Idaho, May 19.—Plans are under way for the Idaho state baseball league organized along the same lines as the Utah state league. If such an organization is formed it is also proposed to play inter-league games during the league season of both teams. Such is the plan announced by Manager Jack Gaylord of the Pocatello team.

According to Gaylord, the Idaho league would be made up of towns between Pocatello and Boise, with these two cities at each end of the league. The other two towns would probably be Nampa and Caldwell, making in all a four-team league. This would cut out such baseball towns as Idaho Falls, Blackfoot and St. Anthony, but in so doing would greatly reduce railroad transportation and put both Boise and Pocatello, two of the largest towns in the state, in the league.

OPTIMISTA SOCIETY TO REPEAT THE MINSTREL PERFORMANCE

TO Miss Katherine Page belongs in large measure the great success achieved by the ladies of the Optimista Society in their recent minstrel performances. So great has been this success that the show will certainly be repeated. At both previous entertainments the opera house was packed to the doors, and over $700 was the net profit to the society. This is regarded as phenomenal and is encouragement to the ladies to repeat the performance.

It is altogether likely that as many more will wish to see the ladies' minstrel jamboree as were fortunate to have been at the previous performances; the success should be duplicated.

Miss Page, who is from Chicago, by her most skillful and energetic executive ability, and a personality that charmed everybody, succeeded in achieving the success of the last two performances. The work done by the individual performers was most conscientious, and rehearsals were attended with remarkable regularity. Everybody worked, and that is why, perhaps, another performance will be scheduled soon.

MISS KATHE RINE PAGE

Carson City has also made a bid for the company to come over there. This is being seriously considered by the society.

A meeting was to have been held yesterday at Mrs. S. K. Morrison's apartments in the Thoma Bigelow building to discuss the business connected with the show, but the meeting was postponed until Monday.

Mrs. Ella Blum of Merced, Cal., is enjoying her visit of a few weeks with her brother, A. B. Mannheim.

Miss Alma Mannheim arrived yesterday morning from Los Angeles and leaves this morning for Tonopah on a short visit.

Miss Alice Genesey is among the young ladies who is being complimented on her successful appearance at the Minstrel performance.

Mrs. Hunt, from Alameda, will be a guest at the home of Mrs. Charles Bender until after the wedding of Miss Bender and Mr. Humphrey.

Mrs. T. J. Sullivan left last night for California. She will be gone about two weeks, during which time she will visit the burned metropolis and other places of interest in the sister state.

The next meeting of the Century Club is set for next Friday, May 25th. An interesting programme is being arranged, and the success of the meeting of May 12th is bound to be duplicated.

Miss Catherine Hand, a graduate from the university in the class of 1905, is visiting for a few days in Reno. Miss Hand is a most successful teacher at Verdi and will remain in this town over the date of the commencement exercises.

The work of the public schools in manual training which is being given the moral and financial support of the Century Club was witnessed Friday at the public schools by the members of the club. The ladies are well pleased with the work that is being done.

ROSTAND IN EXILE

When Edmond Rostand five years ago voluntarily exiled himself from Paris and took up his abode in the Basque mountains there was much surprise among his friends, for he is distinctively an urban gentleman, and even now he wears a monocle, a ring and the most stylish clothes. To a recent visitor from Germany, Siegmund Feldmann, he said: "I am tired of Paris—inexpressibly tired," and he explained that in all these years he had been only a few times for a few days, in the city where, he was lionized to distraction. Now he has a quiet and picturesque home where he can devote all his time to his literary work. He has just moved into a new villa built according to his plans in a sumptuous Basque style. "It cost a fortune," he said — "all my receipts from 'L'Aiglon' and more, I am completely ruined, and that," he added with a smile that indicated his confidence in the future, "is a divine feeling." He told his visitor about his new play, "Chanteclair," in which no fewer than sixty animals appear on the stage. The play was suggested by Goethe's "Reineke Fuchs." Rostand hopes that his friend, Fulda will have time to make a German version of it.—New York Post.

ELKS INITIATE

Many Elks from neighbor cities besides the local members, turned out last night at the initiatory ceremonies which landed F. A. Nathan and J. A. Agnew, both of Tonopah, into the select herd of Elks. After the initiation was over a social time was enjoyed, and the new born Elks were made to feel at home. Dan Heffron and Frank Sullivan of Virginia City were among the visitors who enjoyed the good time. They will return to Virginia City on Monday.

AMMUNITION SHORT IF WAR BREAKS OUT

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Should war break out within the next few years, the condition of the navy will be such as to lead to disaster. Such is the statement made by Rear Admiral Mason, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, Navy Department, in a statement to the Secretary of the Navy, calling attention to the reduction in the estimates of the bureau of Ordnance made by the department and the House Committee on Naval Affairs.

Admiral Mason shows that more than $12,000,000 has been cut out of the estimates and he describes the condition of the bureau "as little short of desperate" for the coming year. He says there is not now and will not be any reserve ammunition available for any of the important guns. It will be necessary probably to discontinue target practice and new ships must be sent into commission with ammunition ordnance stores. There will be no reserve guns, torpedoes on reserve mines on hand, and no range finders, and the money to buy them is lacking.

After pointing out that Congress provides for increases in the navy without making provision for additional ordnance and ordnance stores, Admiral Mason says:

"The evil effects of this practice are accumulative and the resulting lack of efficiency has been increasing steadily for the last few years, until today the situation is so serious that the bureau believes that it would be guilty of the gravest dereliction in the performance of its duty to the people, to Congress and to the department did it not with the utmost respect, but in plain and unmistakable language place itself on record as having laid the actual facts as they exist before all those who are in a position to ameliorate the very dangerous condition which now exist."

SHEEP ARE DYING BLACK SAGE POISON

SALT LAKE CITY, May 19.—Sheepmen throughout the west and particularly those who range sheep in Wyoming, are greatly disturbed over the reports from that section to the effect that sheep are dying there by the thousands as the result of eating black sage. One flock owner, Powell Runyan, a well known Utah stockman, is reported to have lost over two thousand head out of a herd of ten thousand. Other flockmasters are losing them by the hundreds. The sage appears to be a deadly poison to the animals.

HOMES WASHED AWAY

NAPLES, May 19.—Torrential rains recently have washed ashes and cinders down the slope of Mount Vesuvius and have flooded the country around the volcano, carrying away several peasants' houses and drowning many animals.

GUSSIE PICKEL TELLS OF LOVE BY STAMPS ON LETTERS

Wrote of Callistic Kisses, so Heinrich Sando Loses His Wife, Who on Getting Hook of Letter From Fair Maid to Husband Gets Divorce

NEW YORK, May 19.—Supreme Court Justice Blanchard has granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in favor of Mrs. Heinrich Sando from her husband.

The couple were married in Hamburg in 1893, and the complainant named Miss Augusta Pickel, who is described as "young and statuesque, and with blue eyes and yellow hair," as the co-respondent.

Mrs. Sando put in evidence a letter which is alleged to have been written by the co-respondent which told the language of love in the arrangement of postage stamps on the letter. The letter says: "When the postage stamp is put on as on your last letter, it means, 'I love you.' Two postage stamps against each other obliquely means kisses; upside 'down' means contempt."

UTAH WOOL CLIP READY FOR SHIPMENT

SALT LAKE CITY, May 19.—The latter part of the present month the shipment of the wool clip to the eastern market will begin, and practically the entire clip for the state with the exception of that from a part of southern Utah will pass through Ogden. It is expected that the entire clip will have been shipped by the middle of June.

The price paid for the present clip has been in the neighborhood of 22 cents a pound, while the clip this year is not as great as that of former years. It is of better quality, the wool being cleaner and finer. Owing to the steady foreign demand for American wool the sheepmen have held out for higher prices, but the buyers have held them down to 20 and 22 cents, and at this price the growers have made money.

ENGINE WRECKED NEAR WELLS, TWO KILLED

OGDEN, Utah, May 19.—The boiler of engine No. 2402, pulling the second section of Southern Pacific passenger train No. 6, exploded near Wells, Nevada, this morning, instantly killing Engineer L. F. Zimmerman and Fireman M. S. Irwin, both of Ogden.

The train was moving at full speed but the accident released the air and set the brakes, stopping the train without further damage.

The explosion occurred between the switches at Coeur, just east of Wells, at 3:30 this morning. The train was in charge of Conductor Cahill.

Engineer Zimmerman's body was found horribly mangled, hanging to the block signal wires. The fireman's body was picked up on the side track forty feet from the engine with every bone broken. No passengers were injured but all were deafened by the noises of the explosion. The boiler was hurled nearly one thousand feet from the track, but the trucks remained on the rails. A tramp who was presumably riding in the cab was thrown over the block signal wires and over the snow fence, landing 75 feet from the track, escaping uninjured. No cause is known for the explosion but the matter is being investigated.

FEAR FOUL PLAY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 19.—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morse, of 1117 East Main street, fear that their daughter, Mrs. Elora Mae Sheehan, who left Greenlawn, L. I., for Los Angeles on April 5th, has met with foul play. Mrs. Sheehan is 34 years old. Two weeks ago her 14 year old daughter died in this city and the mother has not been informed of her death on account of inability to locate her.

Manobo With the exception of the Negritos, the native population is of Malay origin, the result of three migratory movements at widely distant dates. The Negritos are the aborigines of the Philippines and the fact that they are still found upon the Malay Peninsula and the Andaman Islands, the British portal settlement in the Indian Ocean, has created a belief that they were in the present-day days the sole possessors of the Malay Archipelago and the adjacent mainland from the Andamans to the Philippines. The Negritos are one of the pigmy races of the world. The average height of their men is about 4 feet 3 inches and the women are considerably shorter. The early Spanish and Portuguese travelers called them "little negroes" on account of their kinky hair and admixture to the

are the most numerous and the peoples of the Philippines who are commonly regarded as wild. According to the census of 1902, 1 Igorots exceeded 350,000 in number. The census returns relating to the people were secured in a novel manner. The Igorot cannot count beyond 10, and 10 tens mark the limit of ability to calculate. Beyond 100 num-

The Igorots are probably the descendants of the first Malay invaders who gradually reached Luzon by way of the intervening islands in the dim and distant past. When, centuries later, another influx from their fatherland occurred, they doubtless received the newcomers as foreigners and settled before them to the remote districts of the interior. They are now scattered in the northern provinces of Luzon, chiefly in Lepanto, to Bontoc and Nueva Vizcaya; in fact, the population of the former is almost entirely composed of Igorots. In the districts contiguous to Christian settlements they have, in many cases, made considerable advances towards civilization; but farther in the interior they maintained their old manner of living, and head-hunting has not been abandoned by any means. It is hardly necessary to state that their habits are extremely scanty. For an Igorot the world beyond the limits of his own village is filled with men who are yearning to decapitate him. In the neighbouring village, which he may plainly see from the door of his hut, are scores of knowledgeable axes awaiting the most favorable opportunity to use, and, in fact, perhaps, from the belief of impatient young bucks, who may marry until they have laid a fresh and bleeding head at the feet of the beheaded. The hunter is not particular as to the sex or age of the prize. So that it is a human head, it matters not whether it comes off the trunk of man, woman or child. Therefore, and not on account of any inclination upon the part of the males to acquire a trophy, the women work in the fields, whilst their men stand guard over them, with their weapons.

The Igloites have a communal government and a code of long-established laws. Each village has its court, composed of the old men who dispose of all kinds of cases, acting as arbitrators or judges. There is, perhaps, the most serious crime, but all offences, including murder, may be expiated by the payment of a fine, or a number of years, and, often the greater part, is retained by the court. The peddling, or bloody ceremony is a common method of determining the question of guilt. The accuser and the suspect have hold of a stick simultaneously in their scabbards and he who bleeds the most loses his case. Trials by oracles are practiced in various other forms, one of the most barbarous and most ingenious being the rice test. When one of a number of persons is suspected of a crime, each is required to chew a handful of grain and to spit the resultant mass into the hands of the judges. The man who ejects the mixture showing the least saliva is condemned, for he says "I have not eaten it," and he has actually not.

The sun is the great god of the Igorots and the moon is his younger brother. The unseen world is full of demons who need to be propitiated by various rites. The Igorots have a ceremonial dance not unlike the war dances of the North American Indians, which is continued for days and nights with unaccompanied feasting. Dog meat is the principal luxury, and is a point of etiquette not to be eating while anyone is eating. Reminiscent of the South of Africa, the Igorots look upon the entrails of an animal as a great delicacy. When an Igorot dies one half of his possessions are consumed in a feast, and the deceased occupies a seat at the board in order to be sure that no enemy parades of the hospitality of his house. In the highlands of Sorsogon it is quite odd at night and the houses of the Igorots are not substantial structures, but are made with bamboo poles. The sleeping quarters are in a boxlike contrivance that extends across one end of the living room, the floor of which is the bare earth. The sleeping box is about sixteen feet long, five feet broad and three feet in height. A fire is made within it before bedtime. When the enclosure is thoroughly heated the fire is put out and the entire family goes in. The door is closed and cracks are stopped with mud. In the superheated, smoky atmosphere the Igorots sleep, and one of the most pronounced consequences of this prevalence of diseases of the chest is often a fatal complete loss of sight. The Igorots display a fair

The Subanos used to make human sacrifices in honor of dead chiefs or tinbanjes, and the practice is now altogether extinct. Family life among these people is maintained on a high plane, the greatest deference being shown to women. The Subanos are

What may be done with the wild tribes has been illustrated at Santa Cruz, about twenty-five miles from Davao, in Mindanao, where a school teacher named Wood has induced several hundred rude Bagobos from the interior, to settle. A model village has been laid out, with clean streets, well-kept houses and gardens. Mr. Wood is the sole representative of civilization in this center, but he has gained the complete confidence of the savages and has thorough control of them. They are working under his direction, and their children are attending his school and learning English. As soon as the Governor shall supply him with an assistant he proposes to go into the jungle for another batch of Bagobos to enlarge his settlement.

A VIVID STORY of the GREAT CALAMITY

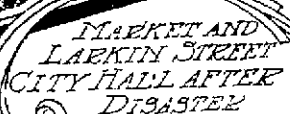

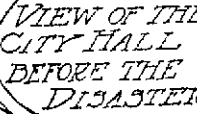

A Sport For Kings.

When a native king of India goes in for sport he does so on a royal scale. No mere 'potting' at a score of birds will satisfy him. "A king of beasts for a king of men," he says. If anything is to be driven it must be my lord the elephant. So reclining in a divan the king gives an order. Swiftly men run to do his bidding. Eight hundred or a thousand of his royal subjects tie themselves forth to the jungle. They choose a piece some twenty or thirty acres in extent and forthwith begin to build a kraal. A huge circular fence is erected the uprights being being unbarked tree trunks some twelve feet high. Two feet of their length is sunk in the ground, leaving ten feet to form the fence. Two lines of huge cross pieces are then lashed to these uprights with jungle vines which are always plentiful. The stockade is completed with a number of immense sloping props on the out-

When finished the "kraal" is a complete circle all but an opening of twenty or twenty-five feet. From this opening there hangs a huge bottle neck several hundred yards long and about 400 yards wide at the mouth. The erection of the kraal takes two or three weeks of most back-breaking work even though a small army of tame elephants help. The maout or hunter, seated on the great beast, with his legs covered by the animal's huge ears is nominally in charge but many of the trained elephants seem to know what to do without any directions. They put their heads against a tree ten or a dozen inches thick and give it a shove and down it comes like a broken cornstock. When it is stripped of its branches and cut to the proper length another elephant carries it to its place in the stockade. And so the work goes on the interior of the kraal being cleared while the fencing is erected. The game is then hunted proper. A band of men scour the country where they know the jungle is well as well as the known native streets and they quickly locate a feeding herd of the kingly beasts. The hunters go softly & softly that they seem but shadows flickering in and out of the tree trunks until they have completely surrounded the herd. Then the half of the circle furthest from the kraal begins to advance with a fearful uproar of shouting and gun firing and a demonic waving of spears. The half of the circle enclosing nearest the kraal make little or no noise unless their captives threatens to break out and get away. Thus slowly mile by mile drive the herd it may be for a week, it may be for a fortnight the herd is driven until at last it is within the bottle

Then it becomes a game of "pull and trumpeting" with rage and digging its great feet into the ground, the captured elephant seeks to twist the strain on him. But by the reason of the compelling noose he has only three feet to the tame elephant's four and eventually he is dragged out of the stockade to a big tree. Round this the tame elephant winds the noose rope until the captive has only a foot or so of freedom. WILL SAIL FOR MANLESS ISLE

Expedition to the South Seas Will Leave in a Few Days Headed by Prof. Heinze

As the summer months approach Professor Heinze of this city is again making arrangements for his proposed expedition to the Manless Isle. The details of the trip are all that remain to be made and it is expected that the party will leave San Francisco early next month. Many people from all parts of the United States have applied for a place in the ranks of the voyagers, and it is expected that about fifty able bodied men will compose the party. Several from this city have signified their intention of accompanying Professor Heinze and a party consisting of C. R. Pielsch, H. G. Heffmark, A. W. Anderson and J. J. May will leave Sparks next week for the Bay City to arrange for the voyage. The men have been employed in the machine shops here for some time and are taking the trip as a means of spending a vacation.

The party will be equipped with all the necessary articles for a voyage of the kind and about to be taken and will be provided with a fine vessel in which to make the voyage.

Professor Heinze contemplated making the trip much earlier in the year but was delayed on account of the disaster at San Francisco.

DANCE BY REDFKAHS

The Redfkahs of Sparks are completing the arrangements for the benefit dance to be given by them on May 26th in Robinson's hall and from all indications it will be a grand affair. The proceeds will be given to the suffering members of the lodge in San Francisco. The May pole dance will be a feature of the evening. The best of music will be furnished and special cars will be run for the accommodation of the Reno people.

ON A VACATION

EXPERT HORSE SHOER LOCATES IN RENO

F. B. Nash, a recent arrival from California, is so well impressed with the possibilities of this city and state that he has decided to locate here.

With Matt Robinson, he has opened a horse-shoeing establishment at 217 Sierra street and his and Robinson's long experience in this line of work assures the firm of success from the start.

For seventeen years Nash has been a shoer of race horses, and is accounted an expert. He is the owner of what he claims to be the fastest hand, or cold-blooded horse in the world, Jimmy R. He is also the owner of a blooded animal, Tomstone.

The new horse-shoeing shop will be open and ready for business Monday morning.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey of 3322 Clinton street, Minneapolis, Minn., was tormented by sciatica. The pain, suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. One application of that instant relief relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by all druggists.

A souvenir of the day has been provided for each scholar attending. The school will meet in the newly renovated church building.

SOLICITING FOR A MOST WORTHY CAUSE

Ensign Parker of the Reno Corps of Salvation Army workers, is soliciting for subscriptions to build temporary headquarters in San Francisco to replace those destroyed in the fire.

Colonel Finch was a champion of much of the relief work done in San Francisco under the auspices of the Salvation Army, and to this organization of Christian workers is due much of the alleviation of misery and distress. The Army says Ensign Parker, is badly handicapped in having no permanent quarters and the money raised will be for the purpose of erecting an inexpensive building which will serve as a definite though temporary place of meeting.

It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

The President's So-Called Socialism By Wm. E. Smythe

MEN may disagree as to remedies suggested for existing economic evils, but they can no longer deny that the evils themselves are real and that the demand for reform is so strong and so general that it is almost irresistible. The President's proposal is a step in the right direction, and it is to be hoped that it will be followed by other steps of similar character. The President's proposal is a step in the right direction, and it is to be hoped that it will be followed by other steps of similar character. The President's proposal is a step in the right direction, and it is to be hoped that it will be followed by other steps of similar character.

The comment of conservatism on this proposal is well voiced in the New York Times: "If ownership beyond a limit to be fixed by vote of Congress is an offense, then all ownership is exposed to punishment, since Congress can change the limit from year to year. And in the long run the view of the majority for the moment may happen to take the fifty-acre farm, the two-story cottage, is no safer than the palace of the millionaire. What the majority could be more directly adapted to inflame the passions of the multitude than the notion that they had a life they are themselves to set, possession of property with possibly the best of motives, with a selfish endeavor to be moderate and balanced, Mr. Roosevelt the President cannot exceed toward the Anarchist is seeking."

Other hostile newspaper critics quoted the platform of 1904, to demonstrate that the President is not only ultra-democratic, but actually Socialistic in opposing to limit property rights by means of an inheritance tax instituted, not for the purpose of raising revenue, but in order to prevent men from perpetuating great fortunes. On the other hand, the proposition has proven immensely popular with the plain people—which only shows that the plain people are in a radical frame of mind.

The New York Times is right, of course, in saying that the proposed policy would be an invasion of property rights, and that the principle it involves could be carried, logically enough, to the point where private property would be abolished and all wealth vested in society. When the nation began to put limitations on chattel slavery it entered upon a course which ended in the abolition of chattel slavery. It had planted a principle and is proceeded to raise a crop of new institutions.

The conservative mind apprehends this parallel, whether the President does or not. Theodore Roosevelt is very wide in his human sympathies; he may not be very deep in his political philosophy.

The proposed inheritance tax reminds me of Mr. Dooley's remark to Hennessey on the subject of Philippine independence. Dooley criticized McKinley's tactics and, when Hennessey asked what he would do if President, replied: "Do? Why, I would treat Aggyndalo as he would be treated if he lived in our ward. I would give him what he wants, then throw him down and take it away from him."

That is substantially the Roosevelt program with the multi-millionaires. He would let them exploit humanity to the point of absolute satiety, but as they passed from this world to "that bourne whence no traveler returns," he would make them stand and deliver—that is to say, "throw 'em down and take it away from 'em."

It strikes me that if it is wrong for a man to keep his fortune, it must be wrong for him to have it; and that if it is wrong for him to have it, it must be wrong for him to get it. It is infinitely more important to stop the further exploitation of mankind that to recover the plunder already stolen.

It goes without saying that the President's suggestion will give a tremendous impulse to the discussion of Socialism. The New York World discusses the proposal in a long editorial, entitled "Roosevelt for Hearst." But why should it not also give a tremendous impulse to the discussion of propositions which aim to abolish the evil of great fortunes obtained from special privileges without resorting to Socialism?

For example, Senator Newlands has proposed a plan of railroad regulation which even stops short of public ownership, yet places two stern limitations upon the right to own private property which men are seeking to obtain through the well-known method of "frenzied finance."

He proposes to cure the evils of over-capitalization by having the nation ascertain the true value of the property, and then to cure the evil of unreasonable rates by having the nation decree that dividends shall not exceed the normal return on secure investments. If this plan had been adopted twenty years ago it would have prevented the accumulation of vast private fortunes "made" in the railroad business. If it should be adopted now, it will prevent the consummation of well-laid schemes for obtaining even more gigantic fortunes through the payment of dividends at the cost of the whole people on hundreds of millions of watered stock.

In my book, "Constructive Democracy," I have taken the Newlands railroad idea and applied it to all monopolies in the necessities of life, showing its relation to producer and consumer, to investor and laborer, to tariff and free trade, to the cotton-planter, fruit grower, cattle raiser, and other factors in the economic equation.

When the President of the United States announces a policy which conservative public opinion declares to be identical, in principle, with the doctrines of Eugene V. Debs, the time has come for every intelligent citizen to sit up and take notice of what is going on in this country of ours. And no false modesty shall restrain me from urging the readers of The Journal to study the Newlands railroad plan, and my own amplification of it, in the book referred to. I wrote it with the deliberate design of getting it read, and with the earnest hope that it would contribute something toward a just and peaceful solution of the perilous situation to which the American people have been brought by the gift of special privileges to the few and the consequent denial of equal rights for all.

I agree with Senator LaFollette when he predicts that the United States will make its most glorious history in the next fifty years. The faith of Walt Whitman is the faith for the hour: "Others take finish but the republic is ever constructive, and ever keeps vista; Others adorn the past—but you, O day of the present I adorn you. O days of the future, I believe in you. I isolate myself for your sake; O America, because you build for mankind, I build for you."

The New San Francisco Senator Francis G. Newlands (In New York Independent)

THE Hon. Francis G. Newlands, United States Senator from Nevada, has for years been among the most earnest and active of the rich men of the country in every measure tending toward wise and sound development. In the great disaster to San Francisco he instantly saw the need of practical and beyond attention to immediate suffering, and set the wheels in motion to accomplish it. As a part of his plan he presented a resolution to the Senate, to which he refers in the following article—Editor, Independent.

THE recent catastrophe at San Francisco has aroused the sympathy of the country and of the entire world. Many of the nations have through their legislative bodies, offered relief; a spontaneous movement throughout the country has resulted in an unprecedented subscription for the immediate relief of the suffering and the destitute. The Congress of the United States has appropriated on behalf of the nation two and a half million dollars, which has been expended in food and supplies for the suffering people. The question now before the country is not one of relief, but of reconstruction. The question now before the country is not one of relief, but of reconstruction. The question now before the country is not one of relief, but of reconstruction.

as if by magic, a city stronger and more beautiful than the old San Francisco is capital. If capital is immediately supplied the population will be held there, and the men of courage and energy will do the rest. If not, the people will gradually melt away and an accidental development without plan and without proportion will take place, and ten years will be required to secure the restoration that revivifying capital will accomplish within one year.

Where is the capital to come from? From the banks? The great commercial and savings banks of San Francisco have not kept their money in their vaults. They have loaned them out upon San Francisco real estate and to San Francisco industries. Their securities are doubtless ample, if restoration takes place, but they furnish no basis for immediate finance. Over $150,000,000 is due from the insurance companies of the country and of the world. The loss to them has been a sad one. They are engaged in the process of adjustment. Will they settle immediately, or will they bargain for compromises? The information comes from the press that they propose an arbitrary adjustment, assigning 40 per cent of the loss to earthquake, which they will not pay, and 60 per cent to the fire, when, as a matter of fact, the earthquake did not cause 3 per cent of the loss. Can they pay immediately? Insurance companies rarely keep large amounts of money on hand to pay such losses; they must reach out for their surplus invested in securities. They may require considerable periods of time to realize the full value of such securities; they may hesitate to throw them upon the market with the consequent result upon market prices.

Can the State furnish the capital? San Francisco is the heart of the State, and when the heart is paralyzed can the body act? Meanwhile these three hundred thousand people—courageous, self-reliant, possessed of real property bound to be much more valuable in the future than in the past, are, in large part, objects of charity, supported by the benevolence of the world. Men of courage and self-reliance—grateful though they may be—will not long endure these conditions, and if continued the property owners will be left to maintain their struggle, and the population, which gives their property value, will disappear. In such an emergency has the nation no duty? Is San Francisco alone interested in the port of San Francisco? Is California alone interested in the port of San Francisco? Are not all the States of the Pacific Coast and all the States and Territories of the inter-mountain region interested in the maintenance of that port? Is not the whole country interested in the port which is so important a factor in commerce between the States and commerce with foreign nations? Is it not the duty of the nation to look out for the general welfare and to look out for commerce between the States and with foreign nations? In brief, is not San Francisco national and international in the position which it occupies? Cannot the power and the strength and the capital and the credit of the nation be employed to advantage, not simply in charity, but in business work at such a juncture? Is the Government to be active only when the manufacturers demand protection and ship owners demand subsidies, and world fairs for the promotion of interstate and foreign commerce require aid and encouragement? Is the nation only to act when Cuba rises in protest against oppression and when it determines that the Filipino people, seven thousand miles away, require aid and instruction in the science of self-government? The nation gave its credit to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars to the Pacific railroads; it has given subsidies to steamship companies; it became a partner in the St. Louis Fair, and when it was in dire stress loaned it four millions and a half of dollars upon the faith of its gate receipts. When Cuba cried out the nation expended two hundred millions of dollars in freeing her people, and when the Filipinos, seven thousand miles away, fell into our lap as the result of a war intended only to free Cuba, the nation, claiming that it had a trust to discharge to civilization, and to the Filipino people, expended three hundred millions of dollars in an effort to save them from their own disorder and to instruct them in the science of self government and fit them for independence.

Impressed with the importance of immediate action, because a dollar of capital now will be more potential than five dollars of capital hereafter, I consulted with financiers in New York regarding a great loaning and real estate corporation for the restoration and development of San Francisco. Negotiations that were intended to be confidential got to the press, and the wire flashed to the entire country, as well as to the people of San Francisco, that an enterprise, simply hoped for, was an accomplished fact.

At such a juncture I felt that a public statement was required that the people of San Francisco should not be deceived or deluded by mistake or error. I felt that it was time for the nation to act vigorously and promptly, of its own initiative, not in a charitable way, but according to business judgment, that would inspire confidence and renew energy. I, therefore, introduced in the Senate a resolution instructing the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House to inquire into it and report as to the best and most effective method of giving national aid, with a view either to aid of a broad and comprehensive nature, by the use of its credit, which would immediately put San Francisco upon its feet, without loss, or possibility of loss, to the nation, or emergency aid of a temporary character which would facilitate reconstruction, setting the people to work and do away with the necessity of making unfavorable adjustments with the insurance companies upon terms which the companies themselves would necessarily dictate. I wished the nation to assume, unsolicited, the great responsibility that attached to it under existing conditions. I assumed the responsibility as a Senator of a sister State, intimately related to California by the ties of interest and affection. I thought that San Francisco was sufficiently engaged in the immediate and pressing conditions of the hour; I felt that the process of convening the legislature was a slow and tedious one. The Congress of the nation was in session, far removed from the scene of disorder and distress and destruction. I felt that it was called upon to do a little thinking in such an emergency for a port which constituted an asset of the nation. The resolution simply called for an inquiry and report. I urged immediate action in the Senate.

The effort thus made with the best of intentions may fail of result. But there yet remain the great financial institutions of the country—the institutions which backed the great transcontinental railroads, the financiers who are interested in them, and the great loaning institutions of the country, whose funds are derived from every part of the country, and loaned back to the people for the promotion of enterprise. I trust that these great institutions will move, and will move powerfully and quickly in forming some corporation for the reconstruction of San Francisco. If this is done, the country will respond with a popular subscription for a business enterprise involving profit in the shape of interest upon loans and upon real estate improved that will amaze the country. The people who have contributed voluntarily $20,000,000 in charity will not hesitate to subscribe $50,000,000, or $100,000,000 to an enterprise that will accomplish more for the restoration of San Francisco than charity and which will result in abundant profit.

Earthquakes mean nothing. In all the earthquakes of that coast only a few hundred people have been killed. They have meant little in the way of destruction of property, and that little loss can be entirely prevented if structures of steel and structures of reinforced concrete take the place of accidental and insecure structures that have hitherto prevailed. A little shake in the earth's crust, resulting in a crack here and there of a few inches, constitute no real source of danger. The destructive element here was the fire. The source of water supply was twenty-five miles distant in artificial lakes, constructed for the purpose of catching the falling rains, and the flow of large watersheds, for the benefit of San Francisco. They have never realized that any other fire protection was necessary. This catastrophe will instruct them that they must have emergency plants which can take the water of the bay and of the ocean, almost entirely surrounding San Francisco, and make it useful in such emergencies. Science and skill of man will meet every requirement of the situation and make San Francisco as safe as any city in the United States. Its property will increase in value, just as the property of Chicago has increased through men, having faith, investing their money after the fire, where they have since realized enormous fortunes.

No one has visited San Francisco without realizing the charm of the locality, the attractiveness of its cosmopolitan population, the beauty of its location, the salubrity of its climate and the marvelous combination of beauty and of scenery—with the bay on the one side and the ocean on the other and the enduring hills between, a great and inspiring mountain system within easy view. With the aid of the architect and of the builder a new San Francisco will arise from the ashes of the old, and this great catastrophe will be regarded in coming years as a benefit rather than as a misfortune. But shall it finally obtain, only through the slow uncertain accomplishments of local and individual efforts, struggling through present conditions of poverty, or shall it be a quick, complete and perfect reconstruction aided by the inspiration of abundant resources?

The charitable work of the nation has been done; the business work of the nation has not yet commenced. Speedy restoration means the saving of a great city and a great port with all its proportions unimpaired; it means a better development than the accidental growth of the past; it means broad and comprehensive plans; it means the co-operation of great interests; it means an harmonious and proportionate reconstruction by methods of building which will make similar convulsions of nature harmless; it means that the existing population shall be kept there at work with courage and energy. The incomparable harbor is still there; the incomparable location of a great city is still there; the people are there. All that is lacking to construct,

Teacher—Jonnie, how dare you come to school with such a dirty face? Jonnie—Why—ar-I guess de wash I give it day 'fore yesterday, worn off.

I was Careful not to show any Personal animus.

"None of you members had a railroad pass this session, I understand," he said to a state senator just after the adjournment of the legislature this spring. "No, sir Not a single one was issued" was the reply. "Some of the members must have hated to pay cash fares?" "Well, perhaps." "Do you think it made any difference in their feelings toward the railroads? How was it in your case, for instance?" "Well, there was just a little feeling—just a little." "But of course, you didn't betray it?" "Oh, no. When I rose up and stated that the railroads of this country injured 119 people and $7 to every one in any country of Europe, and that the president of four roads had more power in Washington than the whole presidential cabinet put together I was careful not to show any personal animus. No I can't say there was much feeling—only just a little—just a shade."

Gee! I hope none of me friends sees me doin' dis mental work! I told 'em all I was to be de cashier!
